

ELM Information Sign Training Aid

12" x 12" ELM Training Sign

Application Example

Description

This 12"x12" Emergency Location Marker (ELM) Information Training Sign is a reusable foam core product intended for responder training in a variety of settings, or for kiosks where content is protected from the elements.

Using the image of the locally installed ELM Information Signs, this product is printed onto 1/8" foam core material that is commonly associated with political campaign yard signs. It can be produced by most local print shop at a very reasonable price. Image is typically available from the distributor who produced the clients ELM Information Signs, with printing arranged by customer at a local print shop.

Additional Information

The Emergency Location Marker (ELM) is used for providing location information in case of emergency. The sign includes instructions for reporting the location of the emergency and contact information for emergency services.